Dear
Portfolio Show Visitor,

As a soon to be graduate of Portland State's school of film, I am excited at the prospect of spreading my wings in the film industry. I hope you found something interesting in what I've shown here or at least seen the passion I have for the medium of film.

At school, I've built relationships with peers and collaborated in bringing ideas to life. On all of the projects you'll see on my website, I've played different roles in the crews, which has given me a greater insight to the filmmaking process. Each role came with different sets of challenges that I met head on with the desire to learn and deliver something I can be proud of.

I approach work with this perspective because I've found it is conducive to a fun environment. From my time in college I've learned to work with other creative minds and lend my strengths to support the betterment of a collective effort and from my previous jobs outside of filmmaking, I've learned communication skills, critical thinking, and a hard working mentality. Thank you for taking the time and I hope to speak and work with you soon.

Best,
Kellen Vogt
