Dear Portfolio Show Visitor,

I love movies. As the story tends to go, I made a lot of home movies growing up. Those home movies turned into short, scripted skits, which turned into short films, which turned into feature-length screenplays, 60 minute tv scripts, and both narrative and commercial productions that I feel proud to present in my portfolio.

My love for writing is what started it all. My drive to execute intricate visions before I graduated high school led me to a deep understanding of the screenwriting format before I had ever taken a formal class. Since starting college, I have learned so much about the medium that is screenwriting and am proficient in creating professional, original screenplays built on humor and heart. I am the proud creator of the spec scripts for multiple hour-long television series, as well as feature length films.

A passion for editing soon followed as I graduated from imovie to learning the ins and outs of Adobe Premiere Pro and Davinci Resolve. I am versed in editing to peppy music for a real estate commercial, dynamic banter for a student film, honest interviews for a world-renowned classical radio station, and everything in between. If there's anything I don't know, I make sure to take the time to learn and perfect it.

I want to bring my passion for storytelling to your company. In addition to being a skilled writer, editor and director, I make sure to come to every job with a positive attitude. My background in customer service has influenced how I approach collaboration and has taught valuable lessons in communication and productivity. My enthusiasm and curiosity enables me to strive for high-quality work, no matter the project. And of course, my experience in film has allowed me to develop skills in both taking charge in difficult situations, as well as following instructions in order to execute a creative vision.

As I approach graduation, I feel confident in doing what I've set out to do since the age of five; tell stories and share my passion with people who are passionate. Enter: You.

Thanks for stopping by, and I look forward to working with you!
