Dear Portfolio Show Visitor:

I appreciate you coming to our show and checking out my portfolio. My name is Jordan Rasmussen and I will be graduating this June with a BA in Film. Upon my graduation, I will be making the jump to Atlanta, GA to give myself the best opportunity to make my passion for filmmaking into a career.

Throughout my life, I have always felt the most comfortable working with others. The majority of my youth consisted of sports, which instilled a strong value of teamwork very early on in me. As a result, I discovered my love for filmmaking. Over the past four years in school, I have not only developed and honed my abilities to strongly communicate and problem solve through team projects, but I have also spent that time developing my technical and practical filmmaking knowledge. Through intensive technical courses, producing courses, and film analysis courses, I have accumulated a strong base knowledge of filmmaking that will serve as the necessary foundation for the next stage of a film career.

One of the reasons I love filmmaking is because of the constant room for improvement and the endless knowledge within the field. Over the past few years, my enthusiasm for filmmaking has only gotten stronger as I have realized it is a field impossible to know everything. Each new production experience is a challenge to learn new things, and I am very excited to continue my education and practice in the craft.

Thank you for thinking of me, and I look forward to you reaching out.

Warmly,

Jordan Rasmussen
